

My wife and I signed up for the Indiana Attorney General's "no call" program quite some time ago. We have been aware of a tremendous change in our lives during the evening meal hour. We now very rarely receive any calls during that period or even other times in the day when before signing up we would receive as many as 10-15 a day. It is my wish that the FCC not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Thank you for your interest and concern.
